

Average raw processing time and the adjusted stringency score

One point per alderman; the two measures use exactly the same eligible permits.

Raw means weight every permit equally. This comparison describes what the adjustment changes; it is not independent validation of the score.